

iReady testing

Three times per year. August, November, March/April
These are computer based. Students take a fun test which puts them into the exact computer program that is perfect for them.

Classroom Common Assessments

End of each nine weeks
These are 9 week tests much like you took as a student. These are not graded; therefore, they are used to target student needs.

AimsWeb

Three times per year. September, December, May
These quick tests (under ten minutes) allow teachers and assistants to determine RTI individual/small group needs. RTI needs may require vision/hearing screening as well.

State Testing

State tests will be given in April. These will be primarily for third graders, although second graders could possibly participate in practice events. These are used to show growth over time.
